

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An inked ribbon core has an internal collar and a longitudinal rib which frictionally engage corresponding spindle structures to thereby secure the core in 5 its fully mounted position, as determined by a stop ring.